

Become a Virtual Table Captain

Table Captains make a HUGE impact on our event's success! Can you help us by serving as a Table Captain and Nisqually Land Trust ambassador? Invite your friends, family, and people you know who want to protect our local environment to join you in watching our Live Conservation Celebration on Saturday, June 5 at 6 pm.

If you'd like to participate and send an email to your guests, you can find a sample below. Please feel free to use the template as is or personalize your invite to make it your own. Thanks for helping us expand the Nisqually community and inspire conservation of our precious Nisqually River Watershed!

Subject Line: Join me in conserving our Nisqually River Watershed

Hi [Guest Name],

I am a big supporter of Nisqually Land Trust's conservation work to protect and steward our natural and wild places to benefit salmon recovery and ecosystem health in the South Puget Sound region. Like you, I am deeply passionate about environmental protection and creating a legacy of clean water, healthy forests, and vibrant communities here at home. As part of my commitment, I'm serving as a virtual table captain for this year's Conservation Celebration & Auction.

Will you join me for the Livestream on June 5, starting at 6 pm? It will be a fun way to get to know the Land Trust and learn about important conservation news. And there will be opportunities to support their work directly through a week-long online auction that will open on May 29.

There will be updates from the Land Trust's Executive Director Jeanette Dorner on exciting recent accomplishments of the Land Trust. You'll also get to hear from Nisqually Tribal Chairman Willie Frank III and Council Member Hanford McCloud, Washington State Representative JT Wilcox, and Lieutenant Governor Denny Heck. They will share about the recent passage of a bill to put a statue of Billy Frank Jr. in the Statuary Hall in DC, and how the work of the Nisqually Land Trust is part of Billy's living legacy.

I hope you will gather with me virtually to help support a mission I care about and make a lasting impact on future conservation work.
